Truth Triumphs

Norway Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Norway citizen given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical of the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Norway citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

S. C. Foster, barber, Main St., Norway, Me. says: "The public statement I gave about Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago was right in every particular. I use this remedy getting it from Stone's Drug Store, and I am glad to say that it is the best one on the market. I have had no serious kidney trouble, but when I need a kidney tonic, Doan's Kidney Pills soon make me feel alright again. Sometimes when I catch cold it settles on my kidneys, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills give me relief."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

Otisfield Gore, Me., Dec. 9, 1912. Dear Editor:—I saw that two of my cousins had a letter in this paper so I thought I would write a few lines too. I am ten years old and go to Otisfield Gore school. West Andover, Me., Dec. 9, 1912. Dear Editor and Young Folks:—This is very nice day and I will send you the answer to my riddle:

Opens like a barn door, Cares like a cat, Study all your lifetime, You can't study that.

The answer is a bat.

Here is another:

I'm a word of three letters although I'm so small, There are thousands who cannot do without me at all.

Read all my next letter you change not my name, Cut off my next letter, and still I'm the same.

Try one and all to guess this one, 'tis easy.

I have been having the slow fever since I wrote you before, but am now going to school to Mrs. Hazel Pratt. I like her very much.

I suppose you all had a dandy time Thanksgiving day. We all took dinner away, but as we had made our preparations, we had the other family on Friday, the twenty-ninth and had a very nice time. Good bye once and all.

You can strengthen your resistance-power by taking Scott's Emulsion. A Valuable Suggestion

IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, inability to hold urine, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, salt, complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most beneficial influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.
You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention the Norway Weekly Oxford County Advertiser. 49 52

Bryant Pond.

When but One House.

Bryant Pond has had its ups and downs as almost every village has, yet there are a few villages in Oxford County which have made much steadier progress than our little village has done since the days of the building of the Atlantic & St. Lawrence railroad through town in the early fifties. That there was but one house where the present village now stands, and the country for several miles around was practically a wilderness.

For several years after the building of the railroad, business boomed, buildings and houses were built rapidly, and the place became quite a centre of trade for back towns like Andover, Hallowell and Rumford.

Natural changes since then have taken place which for a time proved a set-back to us, yet in the end will work to our advantage. Rumford has been developed and much of the trade from the back towns which formerly came here has been diverted to that town.

The greatest blow of all to our village was the year of fires, a few years ago, which destroyed the clotheshop factory and the Glen Mountain House, our only hotel, both of which have never been rebuilt.

In spite of these changes and set-backs which would have been severe enough for much larger towns, our little village has recovered splendidly and is making a steady upward climb, as is shown by the new improvements, new houses and the new spirit of business enterprise and confidence in the future growth of the town.

Looking over the past year we see much accomplished which must cause general satisfaction to every good citizen. While not as fine a year as the one just done in the village as in some years, yet many improvements have been made and out on the Rumford road we have a fine new house going up which we are glad to see.

Outside the village in other sections of the town continuous building has been done. The saw mill at North Woodstock which was burned early in the season has been re-built in a new location and is better equipped for the sawing of lumber than ever before. Dana O. Dudley has built a fine new house at his place in the South part of the town. Charles Fickett has erected a new house, and R. L. Cummings, the Woodstock apple king, has erected a large packing house.

The greatest improvement of all made in our village the past year has been the lighting system which has been installed. Seven new gas street lights have been installed which makes a fine start towards a complete lighting system. The Opera House has been equipped with the light; also Dudley's store. The grounds about the public library have been graded and seeded down and trees set out, and there has been a general picking up of the yards and improvement of unsightly places about the village.

Our local village improvement society have done a splendid work for the village and plan to do still more in the future. We feel that never before in the history of our town has there been showing of closer spirit of co-operation than during the present year, just drawing to a close. Let us resolve to make this coming year still better, and work shoulder to shoulder for a bigger, busier and better Bryant Pond.

There was an exciting fox hunt in this place last week. Grant Royal fired at a fox that was going up the Cooper hill. He missed the mark and the Cooper went toward Crocker hill. He soon came back to the road, passed by the schoolhouse and up within a few rods of H. D. Tuttle's house. Mr. Tuttle saw him and went into the house, got his gun and shot the fox.

In Old Oxford County.

MRS. S. E. BATES BARTLETT.

"It is evening time. The day is far spent." In new settlements the privilege of meeting together on Sundays for prayer and praise to Him from whom all "blessings flow" was not often heard of in those days.

For quite a number of years there was a man by the name of Jewett. (I do not remember his given name). This poor man used to visit the Magalloway settlement in the spring and in the fall. He would go to places where he was acquainted, sometimes stop for a day or two. If he was there over Sunday he held a meeting. He could talk well for he was an educated man.

He seemed to have lost his mind in a measure, and was but a poor wretch, and looked so and all the time. He had been very unfortunate, became discouraged at last and decided to go peddling, and this is the way he sold his goods or trinkets.

He carried a large sack under each arm, made of blue cloth. They were filled with all kinds of thread, pins, needles, tape, etc., and they were heavy too, so long them so far as he used to, for at that time they used to go through the ten-mile road. There was no place to stop for was at woods from Mr. Abbott's mill into the settlement.

He had been a Universalist minister. He could use beautiful language. The blessing he would ask at the table was always closed in this way, "Bless us with a universal salvation for Christ's sake, Amen."

He went to vote one time. They disputed his right to vote, said he was only a tramp. He put his hand in his pocket and took out quite a sum of money, then told them if they would go with him to a place he called "the poor-man," he would show them one thousand dollars more. They thought then it would be best to keep still.

He was afraid of dogs. When they would run out to bark at him he would throw his two big bags and raise both hands up and call very loud for some one to help him.

He was found dead in his bed one morning.

Make Our Town Beautiful.
James M. Day is making some fine improvements on his land about the village, cutting out bushes and trimming up trees. It has added much to the appearance of our village and every owner of land in and about town should take notice and follow the good example. That reminds me, why don't we carry out the idea still further and see how well we can make the roadside of the town look. If every owner of land, whether in or out of the village would do a little each year even if only to cut out a small patch of bushes, set out or trim up a small number of shade trees, there would be a steady improvement year by year.

In no section of the town outside the village has better work been done in clearing up and beautifying the roadside than down on the old country road toward Paris. J. E. Hathaway has cleared his entire roadside from wall to wall, leaving the apple and shade trees, and several others along the road have set out pines and maples. In all sections of the town there are a few who are trying to do this work and our road officials should co-operate with them and see that rocks are taken out of the highways and are not thrown right and left into the grass, which in many cases is done, and makes it much harder to keep the roadside clean from bushes.

We want good broad, smooth highways leading from all sections of the town to the village center and we want them made so attractive that it will be a pleasure to drive over them. It would make our town more attractive not only for our own people but for the summer guests, which is one of our big assets. Let all good citizens of our town take an interest in this matter and make our highways and roads so attractive that our neighboring towns will sit up and take notice.

Our merchants are enjoying a good trade this fall. The stores are well stocked with goods. We believe the old days of "fighting each other" among our traders are fast passing away and in the future they will "pull together" to bring more trade to our village which means better business for each merchant.

We all need to "wake up" and get the real western push and hustle spirit and from the signs of the times it looks as if we were on the right road.

NORWAY AND VICINITY

The fair held by the ladies of the Universalist church, Wednesday, Dec. 11 was a successful affair. On Thursday evening, a fine chicken pie supper was served at the Grange hall and was well attended.

Following the supper an excellent entertainment was given at Concert Hall, which was attended by an unusually large number, the hall being filled. Mrs. Clifford Snowdon presented Zangwell's "Melting Pot," giving a fine clear interpretation which was convincing and intensely dramatic. There are nine different characters represented and Mrs. Snowdon carried each one so separately that their identities were easily recognizable. The title, "The Melting Pot" is taken from a speech of one of the leading characters, the young Jewish musician, David, who was an immigrant. In his imagination the city of New York becomes a huge crucible into which people of all nations are thrown and out of which they come fused into one race, namely Americans, who hold allegiance, only, to the Stars and Stripes. His dream is to write a great symphony which shall put into music all that he feels concerning this great America, which he has made his own. In endeavoring to attain the height of his desires he is aided by a Russian girl of noble birth who is a settlement worker in America. Their friendship soon leads to mutual love and his dream is about to become a reality when he learns that a great conductor will produce his symphony. At this time of his great happiness, he learns that the father of his sweetheart was the leader of the Royalist party in a massacre in which his own people perished. He renounces his own happiness and goes back to his own people and once more becomes a Jew. Finally he sees matters in their true light and then it is that an opportunity comes to him to take back the happiness which he had thrust from him.

The stage character of David was wonderfully expressed by Mrs. Snowdon, but no less did she make her audience see the womanliness of Vera, the artificiality of the Baroness Revendall, the frumpiness of her father, the humor of the first servant and the bitterness of David's uncle.

The Young Fisherman.
"The Young Fisherman" is the title of the first book in the Along the Coast Series which Hugh Pendexter, of Norway is writing, and has been published but a short time.
The story is very interesting and shows the pleasures as well as the adversities of several young men endeavoring to establish a legitimate fishing business on the Maine Coast.
The scene of the story is laid at Fair Harbor, the surrounding islands and at the fishing grounds. In the opening of the story we meet a boy by the name of Jeff Pride, wandering about the shore and near Fair Harbor. He is alone in the world and has always lived in the woods of Acadia County and by occupation is a lumberman. Tiring of the wood's life he comes to Fair Harbor and accidentally appears on the scene as a crowd of boys from Jim Cove attack a poor fellow named Sidney Luce, who was repairing his fishing craft with which he used to earn a living for himself and widowed mother. Jeff, in sympathy with Sidney goes to the rescue and then and there forms a staunch friendship. He is invited to live at the Luce home where a partnership is formed and they work together to increase their profits from the sea and succeed with the aid of their faithful friend, Captain Compass Twink.

The scenes portrayed throughout the story are fascinating and contain a certain amount of adventure on the briny deep, among the smugglers and Meantime, on the trips to the fishing grounds, the visits to the ports, the underhanded attack from Jim Cove and the overthrow of the Peter Bass Crew, and the "gang" from Jim Cove, form any amount of excitement, which is most satisfying.

The characters in the story are all of a different type. In the person of Jeff Pride we see a fellow not at all accustomed to the language of the seafaring men, but an earnest, thoughtful, ambitious fellow, anxious to learn and willing to do his friends.
Sidney Luce is an industrious boy, at times a trifle hasty, is a fellow filled with ambition and one ready to work ever in the darkest hours, to accomplish his arduous undertaking. Mrs. Luce, Sidney's mother is anxious to have the boys succeed and willing to aid in the tasks. She is kind hearted and generous and faithfully cares for the home and watches with interest the undertakings of the boys and the old Captain.

In the person of Captain Twink we have a queer old fellow who is apparently a gruff, hard hearted, ugly appearing, seafaring captain but in reality is exceedingly generous to his friends, kind hearted and appreciative, but he will have his say. Peter Bass the leader of the gang earned a most unfavorable reputation by his threats and smuggling. He is a clever fellow and finally wins a place in prison, through the skillful efforts of Captain Twink.

MI-O-N-A Stomach Tablets Banish all Misery, Gas and Sourness.

You know that most of the ailments named above come from an out of order stomach; of course you do.

If your food doesn't digest, but lays heavily on your stomach, it has started to ferment.

When it ferments it sets loose in the stomach poisonous gases which irritate the great nerve that leads directly to the brain from the stomach.

That irritation causes heartburn, dizziness, nervousness, nervousness, MI-O-N-A will end all stomach misery, or money back. A large box costs only 50 cents and is sold by Noyes Drug Store and druggist everywhere. adv. 51-52

Joseph Andrews' Letters.

No. XXVI.

The passing years have brought many changes to the little settlement around Lake Kezar. Death has claimed a liberal share. A few settled in nearby towns, while many sought fame and fortune on the boundless prairies of the west or amongst the flowers and fruit in the mountain states. Wherever it has been their good fortune to leave, they were leaders in the social and religious circles and a credit to their native town and state. Outside of the crowded cemetery but few of the boys and girls of fifty years ago remain in Lovell and when in the course of a few more short years the last of that generation shall have passed away, there will be but few of their descendants left to cherish their memories or care for the old homestead farm.

Fifty years ago that part of Lovell was a small and quiet center, surrounded by the little hamlet known as Center Lovell, was noted for the large number of young and middle aged men of high character and standing and the beauty, grace and good sense of an equally large number of handsome comely maidens. The beauty of the Lovell girls was heralded by word of mouth, for many miles around and many a bright young man from the outside sought to win a bride from out their circle; a few succeeded but a large share of those who tried fell outside.

In this connection I wish to quote once more from "Incidents in my Life," by Albert Colby. He says, "When I was a youth teaching school in the town of Lovell, I first saw my wife, Maria F. Dresser, daughter of Nathaniel Dresser and his wife, whose maiden name was Dorcas Heald. At sight I resolved she should be wife, but it took me several years to persuade her to marry me, which she did October 23, 1850."

The following lines were written by me on the partial recovery of my wife and a part of the verses (16 verses) were published in "Gleanings from the Poet's" under the title of Metempsychosis.

"The prettiest girl in all that town, I courted once and 'stead around, 'The prettiest girl' did such one say, 'That I have seen for many a day.'"

Within a distance of less than two miles of the old center church by including such members of the older families as Andrew John and Ellen Barker, Henry and Benj. Russell and others of their age, I was personally acquainted with more than thirty couples who were born and reared upon that sacred spot who were joined together in the holy bonds of wedlock. Most of them lived a long and happy life. None of them ever parted but by death, and I think of but two ever remarried. Four of these couples are still living after a happy married life of forty to fifty years. They are Eugene and Mary Barker nee Hamilton; Henry and Hilda Hildy nee Charles; Henry and Sarah Stearns nee Heald and Eckley and Annie Stearns nee Russell.

But Lovell Center, although almost depopulated of its native sons and daughters is prospering in a social and financial way. While the long cold months of winter must seem dull and lonesome, the summer months bring much joy and gladness for the fame of the little hamlet as a summer resort has been spreading and each summer's return brings an increased number of summer visitors who come to enjoy the grand scenery, breathe the pure mountain air, rest beneath the shade of the fragrant pines and sail and fish upon the silvery waters of the lake. As a summer resort, Lovell has many ideal farms and village homes. The soil is especially adapted to orcharding and that best of all apples the Baldwin grows to perfection there.

Its great wealth is in Maine's historic tree, the white pine, which is a native of the soil and which springs spontaneously from the sandy, rock bound soil. When I was a boy we tried to save our pastures from being run over by the brothers' pine by going over the pasture when the ground was frozen and knocking each little pine tree loose with the back of the ax, but all that is changed now and the cry, "Woodman spare that tree" has been headed and every pine tree is saved with the result that many of the owners of those once almost valueless farms now count the value of their pine timber alone as one of their most valuable assets.

In its proper place I failed to mention one very pleasant call that I made on Mrs. Emma Chandler, of Lynn who has been visiting Ransler Edwards. Ernest Skilling of Poland took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ransler Edwards, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith, of Lynn, visited Mrs. Solomon Gay, Thanksgiving week, returning home Saturday.

Mrs. Spiller and Mrs. Poore of Portland, mother and sister of Mrs. Iva Gay, spent Thanksgiving in Casco.

Mrs. Martha Gay who has been confined to her room with illness for the past seven weeks, is recovering.

Mrs. Butler, Miss Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butler spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Spurr, Mr. and Mrs. Barrows and Mrs. Ezekiel Sylvester, of Oisfield spent Thanksgiving with their lives, Lieut. Josiah and Lieut. Sargent Stearns M. D., the two able sons of the old flag by faithful service in the Civil War. An older sister, that I never met moved away and Susan the youngest also married and moved away. Lucy married Henry Russell and lived all her life at the Center and was one of Lovell's most beautiful and best beloved citizens.

Not far from the Allard home we turned to the right and followed a road to the lake where we found Mr. and Mrs. Kimball nicely located in their neat and commodious cottage, nestling amongst the cool, shady trees and close by the waters side. They own a fine home at No. 4, which they occupy when not at their summer cottage. I do not remember to have ever met these kind and genial people before, but I enjoyed my brief visit with them so well that if ever I should pass that way again I should surely hasten up.

Continuing our ride we passed near the old home where for many years resided Obed Stearns and his excellent family. Mrs. Stearns was a cousin of mine. The children that I knew were Bertram, Arthur, Joseph, Stephen, Austin and Lyman. Arthur, Joseph, Stephen and Austin were all veterans of the Civil War and helped to make out the list of 16 brave soldier boys by the name of Stearns, and mostly cousins, who went from Lovell Center and West Lovell to fight for their flag and country. Stephen died while in the service.

We next passed the old Crocker place, now transformed into a pretty summer cottage. Further on we passed the old schoolhouse where along before my day the boys and girls of West Lovell went to school, and where they and their successors learned the first rudiments of an education. That was but the beginning of that higher education which many of them sought, and which fitted them to hold in later years many a high public office.

We next come to the fine old manseio and homestead where Josiah Horr lived and labored for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Horr were honorable, upright citizens and made the world better by their living. They had two sons, Isaac and Josiah, both of whom moved away and one of them died soon after. It seems to me that there were two daughters, but I am not sure. Maryetta, the elder, married John Fox and has lived continuously on the place unless it has been for the last year or two. Mr. Fox died only a few years ago. He was a veteran of the Civil War and I think a member of Parker Post, No. 151, of the G. A. R.

I was told while in Lovell that seven old soldiers, all veterans of the Civil War had died within a year, and six of them were old time friends and neighbors of mine. They were Josiah Stearns, Samuel Hatch, Cutler Stearns, Ben Russell, John Fox and Horatio Stearns.

We next drove to the home of Fred Stearns where we had planned for a short visit, but he and his wife being away from home we retraced our steps to Mr. Pottle's home, thus ending a very pleasant and interesting day, and the close of my Lovell sketches.

BUCKFIELD.

Lena Ingersoll is visiting Imogene Smith in Sanford.

The grangers had a bee and put up nine stalls in the grange stable.

Alton Tuttle of Melrose, Mass., has been with his mother and sister for a few days.

The funeral of Florian Jordan of Buckfield was held at his late home, attended by numerous relatives and friends. Mr. Jordan died, after an illness of five days, at the age of 72 years. He was commander of the local Post of the Grand Army at the time of his death and he was a great favorite among the comrades who took charge of his burial. Mr. Jordan lived for a number of years in Auburn, where he had many friends. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Jennette B. Jordan; four sons, Isaac, of Auburn, Florian, Jr., of Melrose and Charles; two daughters, Mrs. Arvilla Record and Druzella Jordan, all of Buckfield; two brothers, F. R. Jordan of Auburn and Francis Jordan of Hartford, all of whom were present at the funeral.

Velzora, widow of Ira Ames of Buckfield, died, aged about 82 years. She was a native of Hebron, daughter of Solomon and Polly Morgan, and was twice married, first to Elias Staples of Turner and after his death in middle life, she married Mr. Ames of Buckfield. During her first marriage, she brought up a niece, Flora Morgan, daughter of John Morgan, of Turner, who went to live with them when eight years of age and continued to live with them until her marriage to Frank Washburn, when she went to Massachusetts with her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Washburn later returned to Maine to live with Mrs. Ames and for some years they have been with her, caring for her at their home in Buckfield village. Mrs. Ames had been failing for two months. She is the last of the Morgan family of 11 children. Mrs. Ames died at the home of F. W. Washburn after an illness of about a month. The funeral was held at the house, Rev. F. M. Lamb officiating. Burial was in Turner at the cemetery on the North Turner road.

The Coming Festival.

"Christmas comes but once a year."

It is better to be kind and charitable and generous and forgiving once a year than to be surly and selfish and revengeful all the time.

Nothing is gained by laying up grudges. They are not worth saving. One can lay up something better just as well. If you forgive not those who trespass against you, God will not forgive your trespasses.
